About Early Years Matters

Recognised for our significant involvement in the development of the EYFS and our contribution to the EYFS review, we are dedicated to making early education better for young children and their teachers. A company with a growing reputation in providing affordable, high quality training to schools, we know this course will be a 'life saver' for professionals new to early years.

Delegates have told us our training is outstanding:

'An excellent day all round and one of the best value training events I have attended. The accompanying materials provided gave me a clear overview and will help me remember the detail long after the event.'

(Independent Early Years Consultant)

'I have received some excellent feedback from staff and they all found it extremely useful. The training was exactly as I had hoped and .. presented in a non-threatening, informative manner. I will not hesitate to recommend you to others.'

Led by Early Years Matters team members and Ann Langston, who supported Dame Clare Tickell's Review of the EYFS, the course will focus on the process and outcomes of learning in the revised EYFS. It will support participants in understanding the changes to the Specific Areas as they begin to plan implementation of the new EYFS. It will support judgements about the changing balance between the Specific and Prime areas as children grow and develop. It will also explore approaches to supporting and reporting on the characteristics of effective teaching and learning.

This course will provide opportunities to:

- Consider the development of Literacy, Mathematics, Understanding the World and Expressive Arts & Design from birth to the end of the EYFS
- Identify the balance between Prime and Specific Areas from birth to the end of the EYFS
- Explore the three characteristics of effective teaching and learning in the EYFS: Playing and Exploring, Active Learning and Creating and Thinking Critically

Attendance Certificate and Lunch included
